Re: September 2, 2008 Primary Election Canvass

The September 2, 2008 Primary Election canvass has been prepared for Board approval. Once approved, the canvass will be transmitted to the Secretary for the statewide Primary Election canvass.

Increased Poll Worker Training

During the Presidential Preference Election there was a good deal of criticism related to poll worker actions at the polls during the Presidential Preference Election. For this reason, significant additional poll worker training was undertaken, as well as additional poll workers employed. This additional training consisted of a poll worker academy attended by over 1,800 poll workers. Regular poll worker training was conducted for all poll workers and placed on the Elections web page for easy review prior to the Primary Election. In addition, a training DVD was developed and distributed to all poll workers. The additional training concentrated on the responsibilities of each individual poll worker, voter identification, and the casting of provisional or conditional provisional ballots. Normally, during any election, I receive a number of calls and complaints from voters regarding either being turned away at the polls due to improper identification, or complaints regarding how voters have been treated by poll workers. In this Primary Election I did not receive a single phone call or letter regarding either voter identification or poll worker treatment. In the Presidential Preference Election there were an unusual number of provisional ballots 12,400 of which 4233 were valid provisional and conditional provisional ballots cast. In this Primary Election there were 3455 provisional ballots of which 2694 were valid.

Complaints Regarding Delayed Vote Tabulation

The most complaints I have received during this election cycle has been over the delay in obtaining final vote tabulation.

Agreed upon security measures to improve election integrity discussed in my memorandum of July 1, 2008, and approved by the Board dealt with A) the tabulation of cast early ballots, as well as B) modem transmission of precinct level cast election day ballots. With prior unanimous agreement of all parties, it was agreed that early voting tabulation would begin on Thursday before the election, following strict protocols of observation and processing. Such occurred and as of election day, 63,000-plus early ballots were tabulated and results released at 8:20 p.m. on election day.

In prior discussions with the parties, no unanimous consensus could be reached on the modemming of precinct level results. Because of this, Accuvote vote scanning devices had to be secured at the precinct, transported to a receiving center, where security was rechecked or completed as necessary, and then the Accuvote machines were collected and again transported to the central vote tabulation center. Such delayed election day cast ballot vote tabulation with 98 percent of all precincts being tabulated by approximately 4:00 a.m. the following election day. I have asked the parties to reconsider the issue of precinct level modem, either from the precinct or from a central receiving discussion. Such will be discussed by the parties at a meeting on Monday, September 15. If there is no consensus, modemming will not occur and election day cast ballot results will again be delayed from other results. I will report to the Board on Tuesday, September 16, the results of the meeting with the party chairs on this matter.

In addition, certain process improvements will be discussed to speed up security clearance at the computer center. These measures will include setting aside and securing the TSx voting machines for security clearance and downloading until the next day since so few votes are cast on these machines. Another measure will be the creation of a dual receiving and security clearance processing line at the Technical Center for Accuvote machines. Again, with unanimous party consensus, we will do as much as practically possible to accelerate vote tabulation of election day cast ballots.

Hand Count Audit

Arizona law specifies the number and type of races for the hand count audit. The County, based on Board action, has increased the number of potential precincts for the hand count audit. Pursuant to statute, the number of party representatives necessary to conduct a hand count audit was selected for the statutorily specified sample size. Nine precincts were selected for this hand count audit, along with races selected. Ballots for these precincts were brought to the 22nd Street election facility. Based on the County's commitment to double the number of precincts counted based on party consent, an additional nine precincts were selected Saturday morning, September 6, 2008. Selecting the additional precincts without additional party representatives required the party representatives to double the normal work anticipated with the hand count audit taking approximately four hours. The outcome of the precinct hand count audit indicate the results were the same or within a variance allowed by statute. In total, 1852 ballots with multiple votes were verified as being the same as precinct level electronic vote tabulation results.

An issue raised during the hand count process which is very valid related to seals and security of ballot bags from the precincts selected for hand counting. The attached report (Attachment 1) from the Elections Director indicates that one ballot bag was improperly sealed, and four ballot bags had the seals changed at the receiving center, with no apparent documentation associated with the changing of the seals. I will bring to the Board meeting of Friday, September 12, the ballot bags and seal processes so that the Board clearly understands the issue associated with ballot bag seals.

Further, the election officials and employees will conduct an audit of the remaining ballot bags to determine how many may have had similar issues to determine the frequency of which seals are replaced at the receiving station, with proper documentation and observation, or where the sealing of ballot bags has improperly occurred at the polling place as occurred in the one case where the hand count precincts were selected. The frequency at which this problem arises will then result in additional training and/or specific instructions and/or requirements of a designated poll worker being responsible for ballot bag security and observation at the polling place.

Additional Precinct Level Improvements

During the Primary Election of September 2, 2008, there were 373 Accuvote machines to keep track of and 373 TSx touchscreen voting devices deployed, for a total of 746 voting machines. Precinct level poll worker training and procedures required these machines to be secured and transported to various receiving centers. Unfortunately, as in previous elections, not all voting machines were returned on election night. This is of concern and potentially problematic. Fortunately, we have usually been able to track down these machines the following day and find that for a variety of reasons poll worker error occurred in not having the machines transported to the receiving center. For this Primary Election, four Optical Scanning Units and, thirteen thouchscreens or 2.3 percent were not returned on election night

In addition, the precinct ballot batches are required to be secured and transported to various receiving centers. Fortunately, most ballots are correctly secured and transported. Some were incorrectly secured. We will determine how many and what precincts.

To offset these continuing, although very marginally and statistically insignificant or minimal recurring problems, I will be exploring with Elections Director assigning specific County employee responsibility to ensure that these voting devices as well as ballots, along with the necessary observers, are safeguarded and transported in a timely and secure manner to the appropriate receiving centers. While the vast majority of all poll workers do this activity correctly, an error rate of even one percent in this specific activity of transporting and securing machines on election night and ballot security is not acceptable. Hence, we need to work again with the parties and poll workers to accurately account for all vote tabulation machines and ballots on election night.

The Recorder and Director of Elections have already met to review Primary Election issues and continue planning for the General Election.
