LEGAL INTERPRETATION NO FENCE DISTRICT

OPEN RANGE

The white areas on the map are "open range", that is, livestock may roam freely in these areas. A property owner who wants to prevent livestock from roaming over his/her property must construct a fence to keep livestock out.

NO-FENCE

The shaded areas as denoted on the map legend are "no fence districts". That means, within these districts livestock may not be allowed to roam freely, and a property owner does not have to construct a fence to keep the livestock out. The rancher must construct a fence to keep the livestock contained on his/her lands.
