

OUTSIDE AGENCY OUTCOME TYPES

Acquired/practiced new knowledge or skill

Clients/participants learned or put to use new knowledge or acquired a new skill.

Demonstrate Academic achievement

Increased knowledge and understanding related to academic activities.

Improved Health: Increased Family Functioning

Improved parent/child communication, parenting skills, and skills that help parents manage finances, manage the household, manage relationships, and other related functions.

Improved Health: Better Nutrition

Clients/participants have better health through eating more regularly and through a more varied and nutritious diet.

Improved Health: Better Physical Condition

Improved health through better physical conditioning: Clients/participants have better health through activities that improve physical skills, coordination, and conditioning.

Improved Health and Safety: Access to Essential Services

Increased ability to access needed services as a result of receiving information, referral, transportation, case management, or other services.

Improved Wellbeing: Increased Social Competence

Clients/participants improve their ability to socialize with others. Clients/participants increase their social skills for interacting and developing positive relationships with others.

Improved Safety and Wellbeing

Clients/participants experience increased safety due to receiving emergency or transitional housing, or knowledge or skills that will improve their safety.

Increased Individual Stability: Individuals or Families

Individuals or families in crisis are able to meet immediate needs, access resources, and develop stabilization plans.

Promote Health and Wellbeing: Obtained/Retained Safe, Affordable, Decent Housing

Clients obtain permanent housing. Clients are able to retain permanent housing as a result of services.

Promote Health and Wellbeing: Independent Living

Clients/participants are able to improve mental or emotional health, sobriety, and skills for life management, leading to improved self-sufficiency, independent living as a result of counseling, case management, or other services.

Promote Health and Wellbeing: Improved Housing Conditions

Clients' homes were modified in order to create better accessibility, independence, and ease of movement in the dwelling unit. This is most appropriate for modifications to homes of persons with disabilities.

Promote Health and Wellbeing: Reduction in High Risk Behaviors

Reduced risky behavior: Clients/participants reduce their involvement with negative peers, use of alcohol, tobacco, and drugs, and other anti-social or unhealthful activity.