Re: Landslide in Tucson Mountain Park

On Sunday, July 25\textsuperscript{th} at approximately noon, a landslide occurred on the southeast side of Golden Gate Mountain in Tucson Mountain Park. I am enclosing pictures taken by our Natural Resources Parks and Recreation Department. A number of saguaro cactus were knocked down in the path of the slide but many more were destroyed by the rocks traversing downhill from the slide area destroying anything in its path. Fortunately, the slide was a long distance from any park trails that are used by the public. I am enclosing a series pictures showing the effects of this slide.
