Participant Guide

- Each participant must log their weigh in/out results, total weekly exercise minutes and weekly challenge completion on the online Challenge Runner Challenge Log within 7 days of the end of the reporting week.
- Qualifying exercise activities include activities that are performed briskly, continuously and purposefully for more than 10 consecutive minutes. The activity should not be something performed as part of one's job.
- Each participant has one week to complete the challenge and track results. Challenges should be logged for one instance only. A participant may practice a challenge as often as he or she wishes, but it may only be logged one time. The highest level of completion achieved that week can be logged on the Challenge log. Completing the challenge together as a team is recommended, but not required.
  - If a participant is unable to participate in the weekly challenge due to a medical consideration or physical limitation, they may use this alternate to choose a level of completion: for one day out of the week count every 10 minutes of physical activity as one level completed. They can pick the day with the most minutes of activity. For example: on Monday they exercised for 20 minutes, but on Tuesday they exercised for 30 minutes, so they could select Level 3 as completed for that week.
- Participants should not send actual weights to Employee Wellness.
- Weekly leader boards will be posted. Leaderboard results are displayed by team name or anonymously for individuals.
- Team points are averaged.
- There will be separate grand prizes awarded based on the top three teams and top three individuals.

Weight Loss Guidelines

The weight loss/management portion of this challenge is determined by a participant’s total percent of weight loss. A healthy rate of weight loss is one percent of beginning weight per week. So, a person weighing 280 pounds can lose 2-3 pounds per week while a person weighing 180 pounds would be expected to lose no more than 1-2 pounds per week.

Weight loss should be the result of healthier eating and exercise habits. Participants are on the honor system and should participate in a healthy and fair manner. Prohibited:

- Diet pills (herbal or prescription appetite suppressants, metabolism enhancers, etc.)
- Water pills (diuretics) unless prescribed for a medical condition such as high blood pressure.
- Laxatives and colonics.

If you are unable to participate in the weekly challenge due to a medical consideration or physical limitation, you may use this alternate to choose a level of completion: for one day out of the week count every 10 minutes of physical activity as one level completed. How to Calculate Your Percentage of Weight Loss:
1. \[ \text{beginning weight} - \text{ending weight} = \text{pounds lost} \]
2. \[ \left( \frac{\text{pounds lost}}{\text{beginning weight}} \right) \times 100 = \text{percent weight lost} \]

Weight loss/management status may be logged up to 7 days past the end of the weigh-out week.
Weight Loss/Management Goals

Congratulations on making the commitment to either lose weight or maintain a healthy weight this summer. Over the next nine weeks you will work towards meeting the goal set at your weigh-in. We encourage you to recognize the many health benefits you may experience along the way as a result of working towards a consistent healthy weight through a variety of healthy living strategies. Throughout the program, we will provide some tips, suggestions, resources and activities to help you work towards your goal.

We encourage you to engage your team members and work together towards your goals. A support system at work can be a helpful way to stay on track. You may want to meet once a week for a walk or healthy lunch to discuss ideas and challenges, and motivate each other through more challenging weeks.

Choose Your Weight Loss/Management Goal

Use the Body Mass Index (BMI) & Body Fat % Chart to help you determine if you are at a healthy BMI and Body Fat %. To be eligible for a maintenance goal, you need to be within the green highlighted areas. If you are not in a healthy BMI and Body Fat %, determine if you would like to set a goal of 2 – 4.9% weight loss or 5% or more weight loss. A healthy rate of weight loss is one percent of beginning weight per week. For example, a person weighing 280 lbs can lose 2-3 pounds per week while a person weighing 180 lbs would be expected to lose no more than 1-2 pounds per week.

Getting Started with a Healthy Habits Inventory

To help you start out this program on a positive note and build confidence, take a few moments to recognize the many healthy things you are already doing. Building additional habits during this challenge will not only add to your success list, but help you reach your challenge goal.

The goal of this exercise is to recognize the many healthy habits you already have in place. As you begin to set SMART goals for this challenge, looking back to how you put an existing healthy habit in place may be helpful. You may also think of a behavior or action that you would like to be on your list and incorporate that into your SMART goals. There aren’t any rules or formats to follow, but here are a few examples:

- I eat breakfast every day.
- I regularly exercise three days a week for 30 or more minutes.
- I practice several stress reduction strategies on a regular basis.
- When I dine out, I always pack up half to-go.
- My family and I enjoy time together every Friday with dinner and game night.
SMART Goal Setting

Now that you have set a weight loss or maintenance goal for this challenge, it is important to plan how you will achieve it by setting a series of short-term goals or objectives that you will track and modify over the next nine weeks. If your goal is to maintain a healthy weight, and it is already easy for you to do so, you may consider setting a separate health goal this summer. If you’re not familiar with setting SMART goals, please review the section below to get started. Then, set one to three SMART goals for the next two weeks to get you started with the program. Your SMART goals may simply describe the addition of one or more healthy habits you will begin to put in place.

A great way to structure your plan is to make one to three SMART goals that you track, modify and update on a regular basis. A SMART goal is usually one sentence that describes one specific, measurable thing you will do over a certain period of time.

A SMART goal should be:

- Specific: An exact action or step you can take
- Measureable: By amount or quantity
- Attainable: Something that your knowledge, skills and available time and resources allows
- Relevant: That is pertinent to your unique needs and abilities
- Time-bound: Has an end in close sight (day, week, and month)

Here are some examples of SMART goals:

- Over the next week I will cut 250 calories each day by changing my afternoon snack.
- Over the next two weeks I will take a daily 30-minute walk.
- This week I will reduce my soda intake from 3 cans to 2 cans every day.
- I will keep a food log every day this week, including why I am eating each time.

It’s important to choose goals that really work for you and to start out small when working towards a larger or more long-term goal. For example, if you want to exercise 150 minutes a week, but don’t currently exercise, a goal of a daily 15-minute walk may be more appropriate. You can always exceed your goal, and then increase the time as you move forward.
