

New Sustainable Trails!

Tucson Mountain Park is having some of its trails updated to become significantly more sustainable. We started last year with the Yetman Trail, which is now done. The Starr Pass alignment was next, and is partially done (the blue trail is the finished part of the Star Pass Trail). We'll be working on it until early next year. The next trail is something we call the Mockingbird alignment, which we're now siting. That trail should be done by sometime in 2018. Our last trail is the Explorer Trail, which goes out to Kennedy Park. That trail should be finished in 2019. We thank you for your patience, and we thank all our volunteers for their great work!
