SIX BAR RANCH

ACQUISITION

Welcome to the Six Bar Ranch. Six Bar Ranch was purchased by Pima County in 2006 for the purpose of protecting a diversity of wildlife and continuing the historic southern Arizona practice of cattle ranching. Through the preservation of this ranch, open space is conserved and the sprawl of urban development is reduced. Six Bar Ranch contains both private and state lands with 3,330 acres owned by Pima County and 9,000 acres under a state grazing lease.

WILDLIFE

Six Bar Ranch has a unique diversity of wildlife because of numerous riparian areas along Edgar Canyon, a major tributary leading to the San Pedro River. The lesser long-nosed bat, Mexican long-tongued bat, western red bat, rufous-winged sparrow, Swainson's hawk, lowland leopard frog, desert box turtle, and giant spotted whiptail are just a few of Pima County's priority vulnerable species to look for while visiting the ranch. More common wildlife you may see includes gila monsters, gopher snakes, mule deer, red-tailed hawks and coyotes.

ACCESS

Pima County and the Arizona Game and Fish Department have developed a cooperative recreational access agreement on Six Bar Ranch. When entering and exiting the Six Bar Ranch, please be sure to sign the in and out sheet in accordance with this access agreement. Also, the area around the historic house is still private land so please respect that private property right.
