Canoa Ranch Bond Project #80

Dear Chair Lawrence M. Hecker, JR. and Members of the Pima County Bond Advisory Committee,

The inclusion of Canoa Ranch Bond Project #80 in the 2015 Bond package will allow the important work that has been done already at Canoa Ranch to continue. The significance of this site and desire to preserve it was mandated by Pima County voters in 1997. The additional Bond funds are necessary to complete the work outlined in the comprehensive master plan.

This is a site's layered history, buildings and sites have many stories to tell. The various culture groups associated with the site that can be directly involved in telling their own stories along with the sites accessibility makes this a very good long-term investment for Pima County. The site has the capacity to enrich the quality of life for residents of Pima County and be a destination for visitors with an interest in our heritage.

The Vail Preservation Society is very much in support of including the Canoa Ranch Project #80 in the 2015 Bond package. We look forward to seeing planned restoration work completed as well as interpretation that will include the contributions and important place that Mexican American Vaqueros have in our ranching heritage.

I ask for your yes vote for this project. When a project cannot be completed due to funding, it often has the long-term effect of actually moving that project backwards in progress and causing work and maintenance to be deferred which adds to the cost when work is finally resumed. Let's keep this project on track and continue to develop this site that provides a sense of place for residents and a destination for heritage tourists.

Sincerely,

J.J. Lamb

I am writing to express my support for the cultural facilities maintenance and improvements proposed for inclusion on 2015 Bond.

Dear Mr. Hecker,

I am writing to voice support for the Pima Co. Courthouse Restoration, Repurposing, Jan. 8th Memorial and the Tucson Museum of Art/Museum of the West. This project will, not only, create an aesthetically pleasing historical plaza but will entice visitors to the downtown area. The Tucson Museum of Art's mission of Connecting Art to Life will connect the visitor to the spirit and history of the southwest. One cannot separate the Hispanic, Native American, and pioneering influences that have merged over time to create this beautiful and complex cultural area. What better way for visitors to experience these influences but through art, artifacts, and by offering educational opportunities that highlight the splendor and richness of Southern Arizona?

This project will bring tourists downtown, provide a repository for valued Arizona art collections and artifacts which often, sadly, leave our state, and stand as a testament to the people of Southern Arizona as well as the beauty and uniqueness of the land we call home.

I encourage the bond committee to approve this project for the 2015 ballot.

Re: Support for PR 96 – Model Airplane Parks

Dear Mr. Hecker,

It is my pleasure to write a letter in support for the upcoming bond election of the proposed bond project PR96 – Model Airplane Parks.

I have met with representatives from the Southern Arizona Modelers club and they gave me a presentation that included the history of their club, how they would team up with another club (Tucson Radio Control Club) and share the same site, a concept plan for the layout for the two clubs, and a cost estimate for the construction. The maintenance of the facilities would be by the clubs. The current site of the Southern Arizona Modelers is located at the Southeastern Regional Park and is where the two clubs would co-locate.

In conclusion, I fully support the efforts of the Southern Arizona Modelers and Tucson Radio Control Club for the bond proposal PR96 in the upcoming bond program. By combining these two clubs into one location would save land and could bring national events to the area.

Sincerely,

I want to express my desire and hope that any bond issue for improvements/maintenance of city property or landmark buildings include the Temple of Music and Art. It is such a wonderful theatre and lovely and historical venue for our outstanding state theatre company and would be a shame if it is allowed to deteriorate or be allowed to fall into disrepair. It is definitely one of Tucson's premier assets, both historically and esthetically, and is enjoyed by many people, both locally and from other areas of the country.

Dear Bond Committee Members,

My husband and I have been coming to Tucson for the past 12 winters from Seattle. There are some wonderfully restored historic theaters here in Seattle, but nothing matches the charm and warmth of the Temple of Music and Art there in Tucson. We make a point of attending the Arizona Theater Productions that are performed there each season, and hope that you will give positive consideration to including the $900,000 of needed improvements in the bond election which will update and preserve a Tucson treasure.

I want to express my enthusiastic support for the Temple. Tucson has very limited arts offerings and the Temple is a critical piece of that infrastructure. The art and music in Tucson is what separates it from many other Southwestern cities and it is critical to maintain and support the Temple and its programs. Please receive this message as encouragement to include in the bond being proposed all improvements for The Temple of Music and Art

Scott Avenue South of Broadway is one of the most pleasant walks to the Temple in Tucson. The Masonic Temple is an historic monument and accommodates parking near the Temple.

Temple attendants can leisurely walk to dining downtown. The Temple brings a different culture of Tucson residents downtown which helps in the revival of downtown. In contrast to the light rail and the $200,000,000 price tag, the Temple brings a larger population into town to appreciate the Arts instead of college students wanting to go downtown and drink. With two tickets and a dinner for two, the cost is well above $200 per visit.

Thank you for your consideration.

Please include bond money for the Temple of Music and Art!!!! It is worth saving because I have been going to plays there since my son was a little boy and because of his exposure to ATC all those years ago; he now has his Masters in Technical Set Design and works for MGM and Cirque in Las Vegas. ATC has put on wonderful plays over the years at bargain prices so that more people like me and my son could afford to be exposed to the arts. He still talks about "Five Guys Named Moe". The acoustics in that place has no other rival in this town and if it needs a roof; there shouldn't have to be a discussion about it. Just get it done.

We have seen many fine plays through the years and would very much like to continue to attend these productions. This is obviously an expensive endeavor but we feel that the ATC is a great asset to Tucson culture. As we understand, this would not be the first time monies are needed to preserve this structure. If we are correct, the first time was to bring it back from the "dead". Although it doesn't seem to be the same as before, it is a great undertaking, but if the funds are approved, good for the city of Tucson and let the work begin. We are 27 year residents of Tucson.

We are also many year subscribers to the plays put on at the Temple of Music and Art.

Aside from the excellent and well-chosen quality of the plays, the venue is original, charming, historic and we believe an important part of downtown Tucson.

There isn't a bad seat in the "house." The acoustics are good.

Everything about attending a performance is a special experience.

While this may sound excessively dramatic, we believe the preservation of this theater is tremendously important to Tucson. If it is not preserved, we can imagine many subscribers like ourselves no longer taking the time and trouble to go downtown.

We have attended performances - and had subscriptions for years - at TCC and Centennial Hall. They cannot compare with the all around experience of going to a performance at the Temple of Music and Art.

Pima County Bond Advisory Committee Members,

I am writing to encourage you to support the proposed $900,000 capital improvement funding for the historic Temple of Music and Art facility. I had the privilege of serving on the redevelopment team that converted a tired old building into a contemporary playhouse in 1989. This facility is a treasured hub for arts, culture and the greater Tucson community. I believe the role of the arts in energizing the booming downtown redevelopment remains as strong as ever.

The Arizona Theatre Company has managed the facility for over 24 years, offering its own arts programming together with countless community and touring company performances. Simply stated, this is a public-private partnership that works.

Thank you.

We hope that the Pima County Bond Advisory Committee will recommend the proposed capital improvements and repairs so this lovely facility can continue to play a role in our community.

Would you please pass my comments on to the Committee?

3. repair the drainage in the courtyard
4. replacement of the Saltillo tile in the courtyard
5. restore the historic fountain located in the courtyard

I support the Arizona Theatre Company and since moving here last year, have attended several plays and will continue to do so. I love The Temple's current building.

I support the City of Tucson in trying to obtain approval from the County Bond Advisory Committee to be included in a ballot measure that will provide $900,000 in funding to make desperately needed capital improvements to the Temple.

Thank you for your time.

What would we do without the Temple of Music and Art? I live 75 miles away and am not familiar with another small, intimate theater in Tucson where we could see the plays that we see at the Temple.

The facility is beautiful, historic, appropriate, and irreplaceable. To even imitate it would be a disappointment.

The Temple is a jewel. Every seat is a good seat, the acoustics are good, it is comfortable, the courtyard and entry are spacious and inviting -- the idea of replacing it brings thought to mind of economy rather than style.

Tucson has already lost some of its history. The loss of The Temple of Music and Art would be one from which Tucson could not recover.

I am writing to encourage you to support the Temple of Music and Art in downtown Tucson. In particular, I am asking that you provide $900,000 in funding to make desperately needed capital improvements to the Temple, including a new HVAC system, repair of the clay tiles and drainage in the courtyard, replacement of the Saltillo tile in the courtyard and restoration of the historic fountain in the courtyard.

The Temple is the home for the fabulous Arizona Theatre Company and a vibrant community gathering place for concerts, graduations, weddings, dance recitals, classes and a host of other events every year. The intimate Cabaret Theatre is used to host small theater companies and The Art Gallery features local artists. The Temple is an artistic gem in the heart of Pima County.

I urge you to support the Temple by including it in a ballot measure to provide the desperately needed capital for improvements to the complex.

After spending several winters months in Green Valley, we found many activities in Tuscon that held great meaning for us.

One of the most important was the Arizona TheatreCompany (along the the Tuscon symphony) We started attending concerts and shows with winter subscriptions.

Two years ago, we realized that Tuscon had so much to offer us. We had been staying longer and longer each year. Why not become Arizona citizens.

So we did. And pay our taxes here; invest our funds; do our shopping; bought furniture; dine out.

Our theater and symphony subscriptions are now full season; we are donees as well.

We count on you to keep our treasured venues in good repair. I believe that the growth in citizenship that will best contribute to our local economy are those who need and choose homes where there is intellectual and artistic stimulation.

Please include the Temple of Music and Art in your bond plans.
