Larry Hecker
Chairman
Pima County Bond Advisory Committee
130 W. Congress, 11th Floor
Tucson, AZ 85701

Dear Chairman Hecker,

The Tucson Hispanic Chamber of Commerce is closely following the work of the Pima County Bond Advisory Committee in its efforts to prioritize the most significant needs facing this community.

The Chamber is appreciative of the considerable investment in time and thought with which the Committee has approached this daunting task.

As the Bond Committee wraps up its program reviews and begins more intense deliberations to prepare to issue its recommendations to the Pima County Board of Supervisors for consideration, the Chamber would like to share some general tenets important to our members.

- Investment in public infrastructure and workforce development are crucial in moving Southern Arizona forward. The Chamber is withholding judgment at this time about the wisdom of incurring more debt, given the County’s comparatively high per-capita debt levels, although the Chamber does understand the County has sewer and other infrastructure obligations that other county governments do not face. As we await a final package that will be presented to voters, the Chamber encourages the County in the interim to continue seeking ways to increase its expenditures in these two critical areas to stimulate our economy.

Serving the Business Community in the Bilingual, Bicultural region of the Arizona Sonora Border
Priorities should be triaged based on the largest issues facing this community.

Past bond efforts to preserve open space, in conjunction with strong management efforts through the Sonoran Desert Conservation Plan, have been successful in preserving the beauty of the desert surroundings that remain such a significant tourism draw. The community now, however, is coming out of a deep recession and still struggling with swaths of devastating poverty. The Chamber would encourage the Bond Advisory Committee to place a premium on building our human infrastructure through workforce and economic development.

Reduced funding in transportation remains one of the top threats to our region's economic health. Local business leaders and community residents have consistently advocated for a safe, efficient transportation system. There is no question that our transportation needs are significantly underfunded. Although we understand the fiscal constraints and revenue reductions that have led to what can only be considered a crisis, we remain dismayed that there seems to be little emphasis on developing an immediate, comprehensive solution that can provide relief to businesses and residents. We were similarly dismayed that currently, only a small portion of the potential bond package is earmarked for transportation.

Although the Chamber is supportive of the long-range I-11 planning efforts, we would strongly encourage the Board of Supervisors, PAG Members, and the Bond Advisory Committee to prioritize allocating a far more substantial portion of available funding, including the bond package, to improving our roads. Planning efforts for the I-19 to I-10 connection can provide near term benefit to residents and businesses.

The Chamber applauds Pima County for embracing several fiscally responsible policies - including a rapid debt repayment policy and a voluntary rate cap to curtail dramatic fluctuations on property tax burdens and would encourage the County to continue adhering to those principles. The Chamber is concerned that even with a bond package on the lower range of the spectrum, about $500 million to $600 million, there is a risk of exceeding the voluntary property tax rate pledge made to voters prior to the 2004 bond election. The Chamber believes there are ways to structure debt sales to protect the integrity of the cap and believes an assurance of such should be made to voters.

Finally, residents and the business community should partner with the County in meeting infrastructure needs and other community needs. Pima County can be a national leader in best practices in public private partnerships and the THCC Board and members would like to partner with

Pima County at prioritizing areas where public private partnerships make government more efficient, improve the business environment and overall quality of life.

The Chamber remains convinced that infrastructure is key to expanding this region’s opportunities and competitiveness and we look forward to a continuing dialogue about how to meet that promise and potential.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Hecker,

The Pima County Parks and Recreation Commission wishes to add its support for Pima County’s Park proposals in the future bond elections.

While the commission realizes that not all the project proposals can be approved, we appreciate the time and effort your committee has put into the evaluations.

The Parks and Recreation Commission realize the value that parks and open space provides to the community. Parks have long been recognized not only as major contributors to the physical and aesthetic quality of urban neighborhoods, but they also promote community engagement and civic pride, enhance property values and improve physical and mental health. Neighborhood parks attract and connect individuals of all ages and ethnic backgrounds who share a vision for the betterment of their surroundings. Neglected public spaces can become vital community assets when residents, civic groups, and city leaders come together. Whether transforming vacant lots to community gardens, planning for a future park, or beautifying existing public green spaces; parks provide opportunities for people to take ownership of their community, which improves quality of life.

Parks control urban sprawl and reduce crime, creating safer communities. Research shows that there is less crime in residential areas close to parks, in part because these green spaces are frequent gathering places for community members. The result is stronger community connections that empower residents to look out for one another.

According to Richard Louv, author of Last Child in the Woods, kids today are becoming more and more removed from nature, at the expense of their own psychological and physical well-being. Children are spending more time in structured activities and on electronic devices, leaving little time for unstructured play in nature. In his book, Louv shares many studies that have shown that spending time in nature has tremendous health benefits, among them improved concentration, a greater ability to engage in creative play, an aid to help treat mental illness (in particular ADHD and depression), and exercise that beats out organized sports with its hour-to-hour physical activity. Children who spend more time in nature develop better motor fitness and coordination, especially in balance and agility. And the benefits of the mind are not to be overlooked; greater time in nature can help children develop a healthy interior life, greater mental acuity, inventiveness, and sustained intellectual development. Thus, for our community and for the future generation of Tucsonans, we once again want to restate our support for Pima County’s park proposals.

Sincerely,

Michael Lundin

Message Subject Walkability Bond Proposal - thanks!

Thank you all for approving $25M for walkability projects to be added to the bond for the next election period. I will be happy to vote in favor of the bond package and hope it is only one of several steps to improve walk/bike/business friendliness of Tucson and the surrounding municipalities of Pima county. I would also strongly support a 10 cent/gallon (or more!) gas tax increase to more equitably fund infrastructure projects in Pima county. Happy to pay my part in that manner. -Tim Colson

Message Subject Support Pedestrian Safety Bond Proposal
I want to express my support for the Pedestrian Safety and Comfort bond proposal. Tucson needs to be a more walkable city. I live near Speedway and see how dangerous it is to walk along this street. Investing in sidewalks and safe crossings will give us a more prosperous and safe community. Please pass this proposal. Thanks, Maureen Schwehr, NMD

Dear Bond Committee, I would like to support the Pedestrian Safety & Comfort Bond Proposal. I love being able to walk places instead of driving my car, but in too many places around Tucson it's unsafe to do so, and I wind up driving. I am particularly in support of the Living Streets Alliance's idea of improving the walkability along St. Mary's road. The number of pedestrian deaths in Tucson needs to decrease and I believe that the work supported by this bond proposal will help reduce those deaths. Thank you for your consideration of the Pedestrian Safety & Comfort Bond Proposal. Sincerely, Kristina Wake
Dear Bond Committee Members, Please accept my comments regarding the need for sidewalk infrastructure. I live near Houghton and Drexel Road in Tucson. One of the reasons I chose to live in this neighborhood included the access to safe walking and bicycling. My neighborhood has sidewalks that provide safety, shade trees, and a healthier community. Now that the Houghton Road project is completed in my area I've switched up my walking and biking routes to include that sidewalk and bike path. I can access The Loop from my home and am taking advantage of that often. As a driver the sidewalks offer me a buffer zone from the children walking to and from school, the exercisers, dogs and their walkers, and strollers. I also believe having the sidewalks brings people out of their houses and helps makes a truly healthy community for Pima County. Submitted respectfully by, Robin Johnson

Dear Board, At today's meeting I urge you all to vote to fully fund the Living Streets Alliance proposed bond for enhancing walkability along our community's public thoroughfares. This is not only any issue of safety and health, but also one of equity; many of our community's working poor, elderly, & young (i.e., those without cars), need the safe passage that good sidewalk infrastructure can provide. My husband were at the first hearing and were among the hundreds of your constituency who turned out to support this proposed bond issue. Again, I urge you to vote to fully support this issue. Kind regards, Justine Hernandez
